I just inherited two 1962 Evinrude Lark iv. 40 hp engines that my dad had restored a few years ago to put on a antique boat he also had. The unique thing about these engines is the fact that they are consecutive serial numbers. I am wondering if I have something special here or should we just enjoy them possibly on a duck boat.

Re: 1962 Evinrude Lark 40 HP You can buy rebuild kits for them, but I think parts could be tough to find. There's not a whole lot to rebuilding them. You can try Seaway Marine, Engine Blade and Prop or even try posting an ad at the aomci.org website. Typically, they work pretty good, but occasionally, the little thumb pumps can go out.
